ALUMNI TOGETHER

CONVERSATION WITH SCHOOL OF APPLIED SCIENCE ALUMNUS

FIRDAUS KORDI

“The valuable skills and knowledge I acquired as a student in RP included material fabrication and analytical techniques. In addition, I learnt important traits, like being adaptable and self motivated, which are especially applicable during challenging periods such as the current COVID-19 situation, as we cannot afford to be complacent. These skills and characteristics enable me to be an efficient and effective team player at my workplace.”

Firdaus is the Vice President of the RP Alumni Committee (RPAC). Read the full interview here!

INAUGURAL VIRTUAL ALUMNI GATHERING

Excerpts by Jeremy Wu, Nicole Liu (Dr)
and Serene Choo (Dr), P.P. DBIO Team

On 12 December, we organised our first RP SAS DBIO virtual alumni gathering. The joyous and heartwarming occasion included 46 alumni members. The participants enjoyed playing the virtual Amazing Race, which consisted of fun and engaging challenges. Many were also sporty enough to dance and several also picked up some Thai language.

After the event, we received encouraging alumni feedback, such as the following:

“The networking sessions were memorable and we wish they could have been a little longer. The virtual Amazing Race challenges were fun and interesting, and stood out as great event highlights for us. Thank you to the school and the organisers for making this event possible.”

Our heartfelt appreciation goes out to everyone who supported the event in one way or other and made it a success.

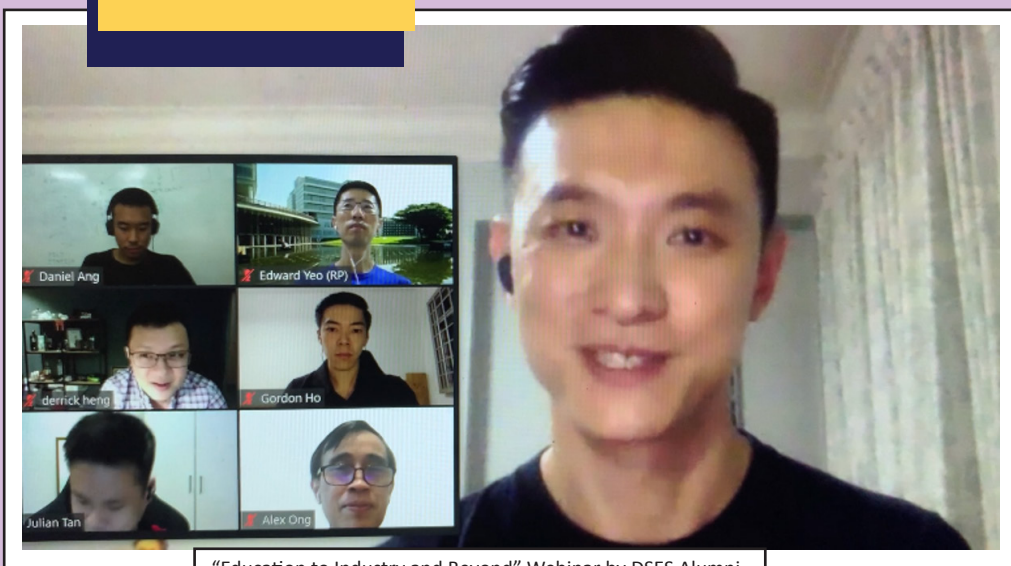

DSES ALUMNI LEAD THE WAY IN THE “EDUCATION TO INDUSTRY AND BEYOND” WEBINAR

On 27 November 2020, a group of Sports & Exercise Science (DSES) alumni gathered online to speak at a networking session called “Education to Industry and Beyond”. They shared their experience in navigating studies and work in the sports, health and wellness industry with current SHL students and lecturers. A few alumni members who have made inroads into high performance sports and physiotherapy shared helpful tips about becoming established in these domains.

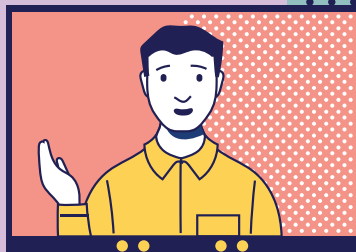

During the webinar, 2013 graduate and valedictorian Eric Li highlighted how the counsel from his DSES lecturer, Gideon Tan, was pivotal in his decision to pursue Physiotherapy for his university studies.

“I did not even know that Physiotherapy was a career option,” he said. “It was Gideon who explained what it entailed during an Injury Prevention class, and that planted the seed of passion in me!”

Eric now practises as a Physiotherapist at the Ng Teng Fong General Hospital.

“Education to Industry and Beyond” Webinar by DSES Alumni

RP gave me an opportunity to fuel my passion in aviation. Acquiring skills of independent thinking and fact-finding helped me to understand real-life situations.

An internship opportunity at SIA Engineering Company deepened those skills. It was eye opening to discover that aircraft were maintained in such a meticulous and systematic manner, with safety as the foremost consideration.

A scholarship at a reputable aviation university provided me with the springboard for gaining employment as an airline flight operations executive at Scoot Airlines. My key roles consisted of flight planning and briefing pilots about operational constraints, such as performance limitations, adverse weather and volcanic activity. This made sure that every flight was a successful one!

Success does not come easy. Put your heart, mind and soul into the smallest

TEY CHIA CHIN, JOSEN
Graduated 2013, Diploma in Aerospace Engineering

When School of Hospitality Alumni Advisory Committee (SOH AAC) invited SOH Alumni to share experiences related to their fields or industries with students, Caelan Chew, 2018 Diploma in Integrated Events Management graduate, volunteered to conduct a workshop on Email Etiquette to share tips and anecdotes.

The workshop was very well received, with more than 25 participants attending. As the event was aligned with RP's "By Alumni, For Alumni" initiative, fellow alumni members were among the attendees.

SOH AAC will continue to reach out to Alumni as part of RP Gives Back! If you would like to receive updates on SOH Alumni related matters, do subscribe to SOH's telegram channel:
